

SOUTH AFRICA WORLD CUP DRAWS.

THE DRAWS FOR THE 2010 WORLD CUP IN SOUTH AFRICA.

The thirty-two are waiting for the finals for the 2010 world cup. The tournament is to kick off on eleventh of June, final on eleventh of July.

Jacob Zuma a successors as president with Blatter also with former president FW de Klerk and archbishop Desmond Tutu also along with a few celebs...

South Africa's Oscar winner actress Charlize Theron, England's David Beckham, Ethiopian athlete Haile Gevrsela and Springboks rugby union captain John Smit.

We asked Mr Camy Vice Principle what he thought he said with pride, " I want England or France. France because I lived there for a while because of the 1664 and because I can speak fluent French."

Pots for Friday's draw:

Eight groups of four countries to be drawn, each group containing one country from each pot.

Pot one.

South Africa, Brazil, Spain, Netherlands, Italy, Germany, Argentina and England.

Pot Two. (Asia, Oceania and North/Central America)

Japan, South Korea, North Korea, Australia, new Zealand.

Pot three

(Africa and South America)

Ivory Coast, Ghana, Cameroon, Nigeria, Algeria, Paraguay, Chile, Uruguay.

Pot four

(Europe)

France, Portugal, Slovenia, Switzerland, Greece, Serbia, Denmark, Slovakia.

We went out and asked some people about:

- If they were going to watch the World cup
- What teams they wanted England to play.
- What team they are supporting
- Who they wanted to win.

First we asked Mr Ambrose he said, " I want England to play France so we can hammer them and then Thierry Henry will go crying home!"

Then we quickly caught Mrs Hicks as she is a very busy P.E teacher, " If England don't win I want Italy to win because all the men are looking great in their kits. You can't find a better looking team!"

After we spoke to Mrs Zeffie I.T teacherwho said, "I would be supporting Holland and England. I would like England to win but I think that France will win!"
