

Maltings Academy to Get a New Build

20 million pounds on the building and 2 million pounds on equipment, sounds like the Maltings building will be a success.

Like other academies the Maltings is to be getting a flash new building by 2011. With over 20 million pounds to spend expectations are high and everybody is looking forward to the future build.

We asked Mr O Sullivan, head teacher of the Maltings, how long he thought it would take to build this development. 'Well, it will start after Christmas,' he replied. 'You'll see cranes and diggers in the second week of term. And we hope, and we pray that it will be ready for the first academic day of 2011.'

When it switched from being the John Bramston school to an academy, the school was instantly promised a new building and with ideas already being planned.

Other schools in the area are getting the academy makeover. Rickstones Academy is also getting a new build.

'I'm just looking forward to getting a brand new building,' said Mr O Sullivan.

Plans say that the school should look like this, flashy

The uniforms are almost as flash as the building!

And the new academy isn't the only change. The school also have new uniforms.

So with all of these new developments happening the school is going to be very busy in the next few years.

And now with work to happen so close to now, everyone's on the edge of their seats to find out what this new building is going to be like.

The new building certainly looks impressive in drawing, let's hope it's like that when the real thing arrives

Better look at this building, before you know it there'll be a new one in its place
